Volunteers for Peace Vietnam

Who we are:

Volunteers for Peace Vietnam (VPV) was started in 2005 and arranges individual programs and workcamps for volunteers in Vietnam. Volunteers For Peace Vietnam (VPV) is a non-profit, voluntary organization founded in 2005. Our aim is to promote voluntary service as a means of cultural and educational exchange for the promotion of peace and friendship, and as a means to addressing social problems.

What we do:

VPV is committed to providing opportunities for motivated volunteers from all over the world to work in a wide variety of projects, responding to the needs of local communities throughout Vietnam. Volunteers can participate in a range of activities including teaching English, organic farming, disabled care, or simply organising games and activities for kids and war veterans suffering the effects of Agent Orange.

As part of our commitment to cultural exchange, VPV also offers opportunities for Vietnamese people to join voluntary projects both in Vietnam and other parts of the world.
