Volunteers For Peace

Who we are:

Volunteers For Peace (VFP) is a non-profit organization founded in 1982 in Belmont, Vermont, USA. VFP promotes International Voluntary Service as an effective means of intercultural education and community service. We provide projects where people from diverse backgrounds can work together to help overcome the need, violence and environmental decay facing our planet.

What we do:

We coordinate annual USA service projects, medium-term and long-term volunteer placements, and international projects in Haiti and Jamaica. In 2012 we will be offering our first teen camp as well as one family camp. The camp language in all our projects is English. Volunteers build peace by contributing to a tangible grassroots local need. Types of volunteer work include: Hurricane Irene recovery, working with youth, building trails, working in sustainable agriculture and much more!
