IPYL

Who we are:

The International Palestinian Youth League (IPYL) is an independent non-governmental, non partisan, non religious secular organisation based in Hebron. IPYL was founded in May 1997 by a cross-section of Palestinian youth activists. IPYL's mission is to empower youth aged 15-35 against social, economical, and political challenges in Palestinian society, which the Israeli occupation has aggravated. As a result of this, Palestinian youth have been denied educational opportunities, sites for cultural activities, and community development resources. IPYL woks on creating core of young community leaders who will act as active citizens taking their responsibilities towards the community development and needs.

What we do:

The Middle East is a unique region, making the volunteering experience here like none other, whether you come during the Christmas period for our Bethlehem work-camp or throughout the rest of the year. Several attractive elements are combined; it offers a special experience for travellers, volunteers, students and journalists who take part in it. Despite the hardships we face organizing these camps we gain our energy, enthusiasm and stamina from the international volunteers and the continuous request from our international partners to arrange more camps in the region. As a final word, we would like to see as many international volunteers as possible enjoying the natural beauty of the Middle East and the richness of our culture and history, whilst not forgetting to enjoy our delicious cuisine. We are looking forward to welcoming you to join our adventures in the Middle East whatever the season, and we promise you will love it!
